- caused by a defective regulatory MECP2 gene, found on the X chromosome
- seen almost exclusively in females.
- known to occur from 1:10,000 to 1:23,000 female births
- first described by Dr. Andreas Rett in 1964
- development appears normal until 6-18 months of age
- followed by loss of acquired speech and hand skills, slowing of head growth and development of stereotyped repetitive hand movements, loss or difficulty with mobility
- hand movements include hand-washing, hand wringing, hand tapping, hand clapping, hand mouthing
- additional problems may include seizures, breathing irregularities (hyperventilation and apnea), teeth grinding and curvature of the spine (scoliosis)

The every day things we take for granted, are taken from our girls and they look to us for all of their care and support.

PLEASE HELP US, HELP OUR SILENT ANGELS!!

9th Annual Rett Syndrome Golf Tournament

September 8, 2012

Proceeds donated to:
The Jessica Carr Endowment Fund at CHEO

Message from The Carr's :

Welcome to the 9th Annual Rett Syndrome golf tournament. Last years tournament was another success, raising over $10,000. We would like to thank all the people who participated last year. The generosity and support from all the businesses, volunteers and golfers was overwhelming and greatly appreciated. All of our silent angels will benefit in numerous ways with the money raised.

Now entering our ninth year hosting this tournament we have, with your help, raised $200,000. We have been able to help the Eastern Ontario Rett Syndrome Chapter, we have established a fund at CHEO and we were able to help continue advanced research in Rett reversal at Sick Kids in Toronto.

This year we would like to help continue to grow the fund set up at CHEO. Dr. Humphries is a dedicated neurologist to all our Rett Syndrome girls. His most recent accomplishment is the opening of the 1st Rett Syndrome Clinic in Canada. This clinic is important to the complex care our daughters need. The Jessica Carr fund at CHEO has been able to help provide support for the clinical intervention required for Rett Syndrome patients and to help fund various research projects.

Jessica is now 10. She is faced with many medical complications and can't do many of things we can do, but the love, patience and happiness that comes from Jessica captures you and your heart swells when you are with her. She is an inspiration to all who know her and is a joy to be around.

Please help make us make a difference in Jessica's life and the lives of other Rett girls. Together we can make the 2012 Rett Syndrome Golf Tournament another huge success. Thank you for your time.
